Manual Notice 2001-1

To: District and Divisions

From: Robert L. Wilson, P.E.

Functional Manual: DCIS User Manual

Date: April 6, 2001

Purpose

This manual revision is intended to transmit changes due to state and federal legislation, Commission directives, and system requirements.

Contents

This manual notice updates system changes and describes the latest DCIS procedures. This manual supersedes the 1987 Design and Construction Information System (DCIS) Manual dated May 19, 1987 and the online version published in 1997. It provides detailed instructions regarding the data fields, system use and capabilities of DCIS.

Specifically the information in Appendices D and E has not changed but has been incorporated into Chapter 4. The only information in Appendix C was a link to the TACS tables. Appendix C has been deleted, however, all references to the TACS tables throughout the chapter now link to the explanation of the tables found in Chapter 5, Section 2. Other changes in the manual are style changes (not content). Appendices F and G have been taken out completely at this time.

Action Required

None, this replaces the online version of the DCIS User Manual published July 1997.
